DOROTHY DALTON AT THE BUTLER TODAY

Dorothy Dalton makes an appealing figure as the young wife in the picturization of Sir James M. Barrie's popular play, "Half an Hour," which will be shown at the Butler today. Miss Dalton has the role of the daughter of an impoverished British aristocrat. She is practically sold by her father to become the wife of a rich American. He loves her, but her coldness finally leads him to treat her badly. She finds solace in the attentions of a handsome young English philanderer of her own rank in society. He finally persuades her to flee with him and she is at his apartments for that purpose when he is killed in an accident. The dramatic events that follow lead to a reconciliation between the young wife and her husband. An excellent cast supports Miss Dalton and includes Charles Richmond, Albert Barrett and Frank Losee. Miss Dalton is ideally qualified to portray the aristocratic young wife and gives a spirited and appealing performance. Added to the feature will be another one of those 100 per cent two-reel Larry Simon comedies, "The Suit-Or."

Tomorrow, Wanda Hawley in "Her Beloved Villain"

Monday, "Don't Ever Marry," by Marshall Neilan. A First National
